

The Ohio Invasive Plants Council
presents:

GOOD RIDDANCE TO THOSE “Good Plants Gone Bad”– CONTROLLING INVASIVE PLANTS

May 2, 2007

9 AM-4 PM

Champaign County Community Center

South of Urbana on State Route 68

Who? This workshop is designed for large-scale land managers and land owners. Anyone who understands the invasive issue and is looking for control options is welcome to attend. Professionals from around the state will present talks and demonstrate control methods.

Why? This workshop is a follow-up to the fall workshop “Good Plants Gone Bad: Invasive Plants in Ohio.” This workshop will be more technical and is designed to delve deeper into effective control techniques for invasive plants.

How much? A $15 registration fee will help support the Council’s state-wide efforts. All participants will receive a boxed lunch. Registration will be available on the OIPC website in late winter (February or early March). Exact payment will be required on the day of the workshop. Purchase orders and billing for multiple attendees may be arranged in advance.

For More Information and to register: www.oipc.info

For More Information, you may also call: Jennifer Windus, 614-265-6309

